

Sparrow's Song

Tell me where are you going little birdie
It appears you are taking flight
Even though he's offering you shelter
And to hold you through the night

Fly away away little birdie
Go and learn to keep your head
You know that the answer don't lie waiting
In the comfort of your bed

Fly away away little birdie
Tell me what in the world you find
Is there something in one of those stories
That'll ease your troubled mind

Go and seek oh seek the stories of the answers that pain may give
For although we all know we are all dying
It is not too late to live

[Instrumental]

Oh take care take care little birdie
Of your precious and worried mind
Oh you know that the rest that you are needing
It is yours to seek and find

Oh take care take care little birdie
Of your precious and bleeding heart
Oh you know there is comfort in those loving arms
That have failed you from the start
